HE AND SHE

He:- Rosebud

That you open your legs

Keep yourself in the night

That on your Mount of Venus

It will rain and snow

With the snow
That grandmother
And great-grandmother dream
Who sigh and cry
Close to burning fire
With chestnut logs.
She:- Oh, my farmer!
That you come home
Tired of working.
Wake up your little bird
And bring it to its nest
That I have in my garden
Want or not want.
He:- Rice pudding
I want to get married
With a pretty lady
Who knows how to sew
Who knows how to embroider
Who knows how to milk
So that me happy
May, as donkey, ejaculate.
She:- The Virgin of Henar
Said to the Pilar:
If you are Aragonese
I am Segovian and with salt.
